"THE PLACE OF MEETING"

A Few Facts and Figures—Capital of Ontario. Second largest city in Canada. The city of homes. Hive of manufacturing. Annual production of $506,000,000. Wholesale jobbing centre of Canada. Mecca of trade and commerce. A popular resort for tourists. Centre of lake passenger traffic. The city of 50 parks and 8 permanent play grounds. Seat of Canada's largest university (Toronto University). Educational centre of Canada. Legal and judicial centre of the Province. Automobile centre of Canada. Home of the largest departmental store in the British Empire. Rail connections with three transcontinental railways. A one-night ride from any of the centres of population in Central Canada or in the Central and Eastern States.

Toronto was first settled by the French in 1759, as a fort and trading station, with the name of Fort Rouille, in honor of the French Colonial Minister. Later in the same year it was captured by the British after a brisk encounter with its French occupants, who, before abandoning the fort, reduced it to ashes. The British promptly changed its name to York, as tribute to the Duke of York, son of George III., by which name it was known until it adopted the name of Toronto in 1834, which in the Indian tongue means "A Place of Meeting." The name was a tribute to the earliest characteristics of the locality, for in the days prior to the advent of the pale-faces, it had been the terminal point of several Indian trails running between Lake Huron and Lake Ontario. Toward the close of the eighteenth century it became the Capital of Upper Canada, and after Confederation the Capital of Ontario.

During the war of 1812-14 the town was bombarded by the United States troops and gunboats. The enemy landed and burnt the Parliament Buildings, but was soon forced to evacuate. From the conclusion of the war in 1814 the town grew rapidly, and the progress begun then has never since been halted. When Toronto was incorporated as a city in 1834 its population was given as 9,300; since then it has doubled its population every 15 years until recent years, when the increase has been at an even greater ratio. Its inhabitants are more largely Anglo-Saxon than those of any other city on the continent of North America.

POPULATION

Toronto Proper - - - - - - - 627,520

Toronto Suburbs - - - - - - - 62,568

TOTAL POPULATION FOR GREATER TORONTO:

690,088

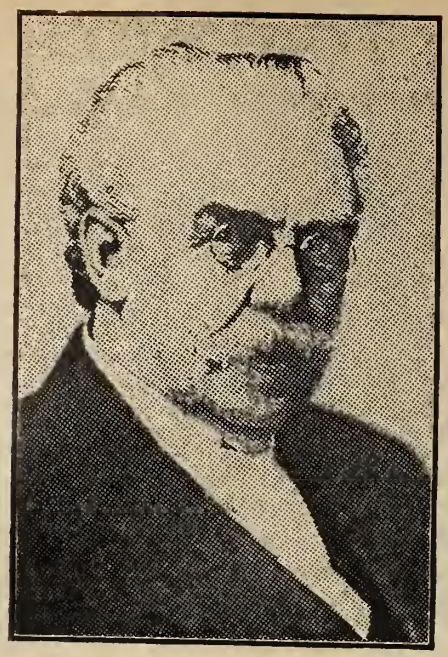
Figures on population always vary with each authoritative source. Estimates made public to date are well known to be under the actual count, as many citizens (especially foreigners), firmly believe that taxation increases will follow any information the assessor or census taker may secure.

Our Estimate of increase during the past twelve months only amounts to 9,305. The average increase for the last twelve years of the City of Toronto as estimated by the Assessment Department shows an average yearly increase of 12,868. The rapid growth of the suburban population is worth while noting.

We find an increase of population in the suburbs of 9,322 which is 17½% increase of their population.

If this rate of increase is maintained in the Toronto suburbs for the next few years her suburban population will be doubled and large areas will be seeking annexation and so it may not be many years before Toronto's population will reach the million mark.

CAN A CITY'S POPULATION BE ESTIMATED 20 OR 30 YEARS AHEAD?



The following estimate was published in 1901 by the late John C. Gardner, past President of the Might Directories Limited.

The Population of Toronto in 1834.....9254
" " " " " 1835.....9765
" " " " " 1836.....9652

"In arriving at our estimate of the population this year (1901) we use a multiple which we arrive at by carefully comparing the figures of the Dominion Census of 1881 and 1891 with the number of names contained in the Toronto Directories for those years."

"When we compare the above figures with those of the present estimated population and note the tremendous increase we wonder if the people living in Toronto in 1834 when their number was only 9254 realized that they were laying the foundation of a city of this size; further, do the people of the present day realize what Toronto will be fifty years from now; we have worked out what we believe to have been the average rate of increase in the past and applying this rate to the present population we estimate in 1920 the population of Toronto will be over 550,000 and in 1950 it will exceed 2,000,000. "We do not believe this estimate will be over the mark, if anything it will be under."

The late Mr. J. C. Gardner was correct in his first estimate of 1920, as our estimate in 1920 gave Toronto a population of 562,585, and it therefore follows that if the ratio which Mr. Gardner applied 20 years ahead will continue in future years Toronto will have over 2,000,000 population in 1950.

The late John C. Gardner, Past President of Might Directories Limited, whose estimate of Toronto's population 20 years ahead was correct.

HOW CITY HAS GROWN

By means of judicious annexation of adjoining municipalities Toronto's acreage has increased from 5,297 acres at the time of incorporation to 25,858.08 acres in 1923. The first section to be taken into the new city of Toronto was Yorkville, in 1883. Three years later North Rosedale was added. In 1888 the section lying north of Bloor and west of Bathurst streets, known as Seaton village, was taken in, and Parkdale was included the following year. During the next ten years some additions were made to the western extremities of the city and more land was added to North Rosedale. In 1908 the city reached out northward and annexed Deer Park, the Baldwin Estate and also added East Toronto. Next year Wychwood and Bracondale, West Toronto, Midway and Balmy Beach were included, while the following year saw Dovercourt and Earlscourt within the city limits. Between 1912 and 1914 the Helliwell Property, Montclair district, North Toronto, Moore Park, the Glebe Estate and Mount Pleasant Cemetery were added. Between 1920 and 1923 the following sections came under the administration of the city: South side Bloor st (Swansea), North of Danforth av, East of Woodbine av and Davies Estate, Annexation of Annette st and Runnymede rd, Annexation of North side of Rowntree av.

➡ It is a deplorable fact that each year changes of street names and renumbering of streets must take place just at a time when the city directory is about ready for the presses. This year necessitated a delay of six weeks due to the renumbering of Bay street. The inconvenience to the citizens can readily be realized if the city directory did not contain the up-to-date information for such an important street as Bay street.

INDUSTRIAL

TORONTO'S DEVELOPMENT.

One important feature which has had a marked effect on making conditions better in Toronto has been the taking over by the City of the Street Railway Company. The Toronto Transportation Commission has carried on a large amount of important work in connection with the rehabilitation of the road. Since the railway system was taken over 450 new cars, 11 motor buses and 4 trackless trolleys have been purchased, 3 large additions were made to car yards and two additions to car houses, one entirely new car house and yard has been constructed, 14 miles of track laid in car houses, 24 single track miles laid on streets, 49 single track miles of track totally rehabilitated and in addition 31 miles of track partially rehabilitated. At the peak of this work some 3,800 men were employed on construction labour. At present (Dec. 31st, 1922) the Commission has approximately 205 miles of trackage in use and is also operating in addition 8 miles of motor bus and trackless trolley routes.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS.

Another feature of Toronto's development which offered relief to the labor market as well as improvement to city resources is the work of the Harbor Commission. This Board to date has reclaimed over 900 acres of land. Of this amount, 350 acres are for Public Parks. Seven miles of dock walls have been built, and three miles of Boulevard driveway 50 ft. wide. The driveway will be extended 12 miles across the island, and will have along its edge a fine board walk, of which one and one-half miles is finished.

In the industrial area this reclaimed 2½ miles of paved streets have been laid, 2½ miles of concrete sidewalks, 2½ miles of sewers, 5¼ miles of water mains, 2 miles of street railway tracks and 18 miles of main railway leads and sidings, 27 industries established, whose plants and buildings are valued at $10,000,000.

SUNNYSIDE BEACH—TORONTO'S LAKE SHORE PLAYGROUND.

Coincident with the work of the Harbor Commissioners in establishing and extending Toronto's waterfront have been their efforts in arranging facilities which offer to the people a watering place second to none on the continent.

The development at Sunnyside Beach has progressed favorably. The Boulevard Driveway has been completed from the Humber River to the Western Entrance of the Canadian National Exhibition Grounds; a new traffic highway, to take the place of the Lake Shore Road has been constructed from the Humber to Sunnyside bridge, on which the Transportation Commission have laid their tracks and are now operating cars. The 24-foot Promenade completed last year from the Humber to Wilson Avenue, has been extended to Dowling Avenue; from this point concrete sidewalks have been laid. Amusement concessions have been leased and buildings and amusement devices erected.

Sunnyside Beach was formally opened on June 28th. It now contains a Bathing Pavilion with accommodation for 7,700 bathers at one time. A Restaurant with dining rooms and terraced tea gardens with a total seating capacity of 780 persons. Boat House and Dancing Pavilion with accommodation for 400 couples. Band Stand, Refreshment booths, and numerous amusement devices and games.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

Toronto has approximately 2,835 manufacturing establishments. In 1921 there were approximately 131,956 buildings of all kinds in the city, now there are 140,009. As pointed out elsewhere, credit for a large part of this increase must be given to the efforts of the Industrial Commission appointed in 1918. Many other statistics show how rapid and sizable has been the city's business growth. Consider the large increase in the number of telephones—the pulses of city commerce in Toronto. The figures for the past few years are:—

1905	15,328	1918	75,108
1910	32,515	1919	83,243
1915	58,260	1920	95,749
1916	63,186	1921	101,531
1917	69,601	1922	112,314

Parallel with this increase is that of the Toronto Hydro Electric System.

In	1912	this	system	delivered	17,000	horsepower.
"	1916	"	"	"	47,000	"
"	1921	"	"	"	76,000	"
"	1922	"	"	"	103,000	"

Regarding delivery in the future, it is promised that ample power will be available to take care of Toronto's growth and development.

The Toronto Hydro Electric System served—

In 1912	13,858	customers
" 1916	44,013	"
" 1921	81,923	"
" 1922	93,065	"

and now that the customers of the Toronto & Niagara Power Co. have been taken over, the Hydro has over 123,000 customers in Toronto.

ADVANTAGES OF LOCATING IN TORONTO.

As an Industrial and Commercial centre, Toronto stands in the front rank in view of the fact that mainly on account of its geographical location it is the logical distributing point for the Province of Ontario.

There are approximately 2,835 manufacturing establishments in the City, two hundred and five of which are branches of American plants, employing in the neighborhood of 105,000 employees. The amount of capital invested is about $400,000,000, with an annual payroll of $110,000,000 and an annual production of approximately $506,000,000.

These manufactures range from the ordinary household pin to trans-Atlantic and lake boats.

Toronto has within its City limits and within a few miles radius of the centre of the City what is recognized as the finest labor market on the American continent. The workers as a whole are an intelligent class of citizens, and are far above the average in this respect.

MORE BUILDINGS GOING UP

Building figures point to an ever growing demand for additional accommodation of all kinds, to meet both housing and working needs. It would seem that Toronto need have no fear of over-development in this line, nor be in any danger of a surplus of vacant buildings. Actual figures since 1905 are:—

Year.	Permits Issued, No.	Buildings Erected, No.	Value of Buildings Erected.
1905	x	3,753	$10,347,915

INCREASE IN CUSTOMS DUES

Lastly, the figures of the Port of Toronto, Customs and Inland Revenue show more and more goods coming into the city. This, of course, argues an increasing market which in turn points again to the fact that more and more is Toronto becoming the key to Ontario. The figures are:—

EDUCATIONAL

No other city in America is better equipped than Toronto with facilities for carrying on the work of national education in all its stages. For elementary school work there are two boards of management, "the Board of Education" and the Roman Catholic "Separate School Board." The functions of these two school boards run parallel through the "public school course" of study prescribed by the Ontario Department of Education, but all secondary education is put under the jurisdiction of the Board of Education, on which the Separate School Board is represented by two appointed members.

HOW WE SOLVE PROBLEMS OF PERSONNEL SELECTION AND MANAGEMENT

HOW WE PLACE SQUARE PEGS IN SQUARE HOLES

When a firm as old, as solid, as conservative, as well-established as Might Directories Limited, shows such a rapid growth both in the development of old departments and in the successful establishment of new services, there is a reason.

Years ago Might Directories Limited recognised that the secret of business success is largely summed up in the selection of the right person for the job, and the right management and stimulation of that person.

For Five years Might Directories Limited have tried and tested out the value of EXPERT COUNSEL in the selection, placing and management of employees.

We called upon the most expert Character Analyst in Canada —or in America—for his opinion regarding

1. The most promising candidates for any important position to be filled before we made a final decision.
2. Letters of application where we found it necessary to advertise for help, to decide which were worth interviewing.
3. The various departments of our business where we frequently have to employ a number of people on similar work, and the desirable and undesirable indications in appearance, manner and writing for each type of work.
4. The various heads of departments from the General Manager down, with regard to the special capacities and limitations of each.
5. Important employees before making a final decision regarding either advancement or dismissal.

To complete the cycle of business building and sales stimulation services of our organization and enable us to provide our clients with the same kind of Personnel Counsel Service as has aided us in building our own business, we have established a

PERSONNEL COUNSEL DEPARTMENT

under the direction of the same Personnel Adviser whose services we have ourselves used for five years, namely ARTHUR BLACK FARMER, B.A., L.V.
